Prelude . . .

The yearbook is often the only tangible remembrance of high school days . . . classes . . . teams . . . bull sessions . . . begging for excused tardies . . . school dances . . . assembly programs . . . and friends. Its birth was for this purpose. But in the war year of 1943, a new theme has come to the front, as it has in all aspects of the American way. High schools are geared for victory as never before. From the high school march the young men and women to the battle and production fronts. To this new mold of life into which they have advanced, the staff presents the 1943 Black and Gold.

Distributive Education

Distributive Education provides vocational training for the field of distribution. Juniors and Seniors, preferably the latter, who are sixteen years old, receive technical and general training in classes especially patterned to give practical knowledge for "in-store" jobs. Trainees spend a part of each day in a local store where managers and department heads further the training toward permanent employment after graduation.

JACK GRISHAW

Again this year the "Black and Gold" is a student publication. Not only is the yearbook planned and written within the three high schools, and much of the art work, layout, and photography done by students, but, for the twelfth consecutive year printed in its entirety in the Reynolds High School Print Shop.

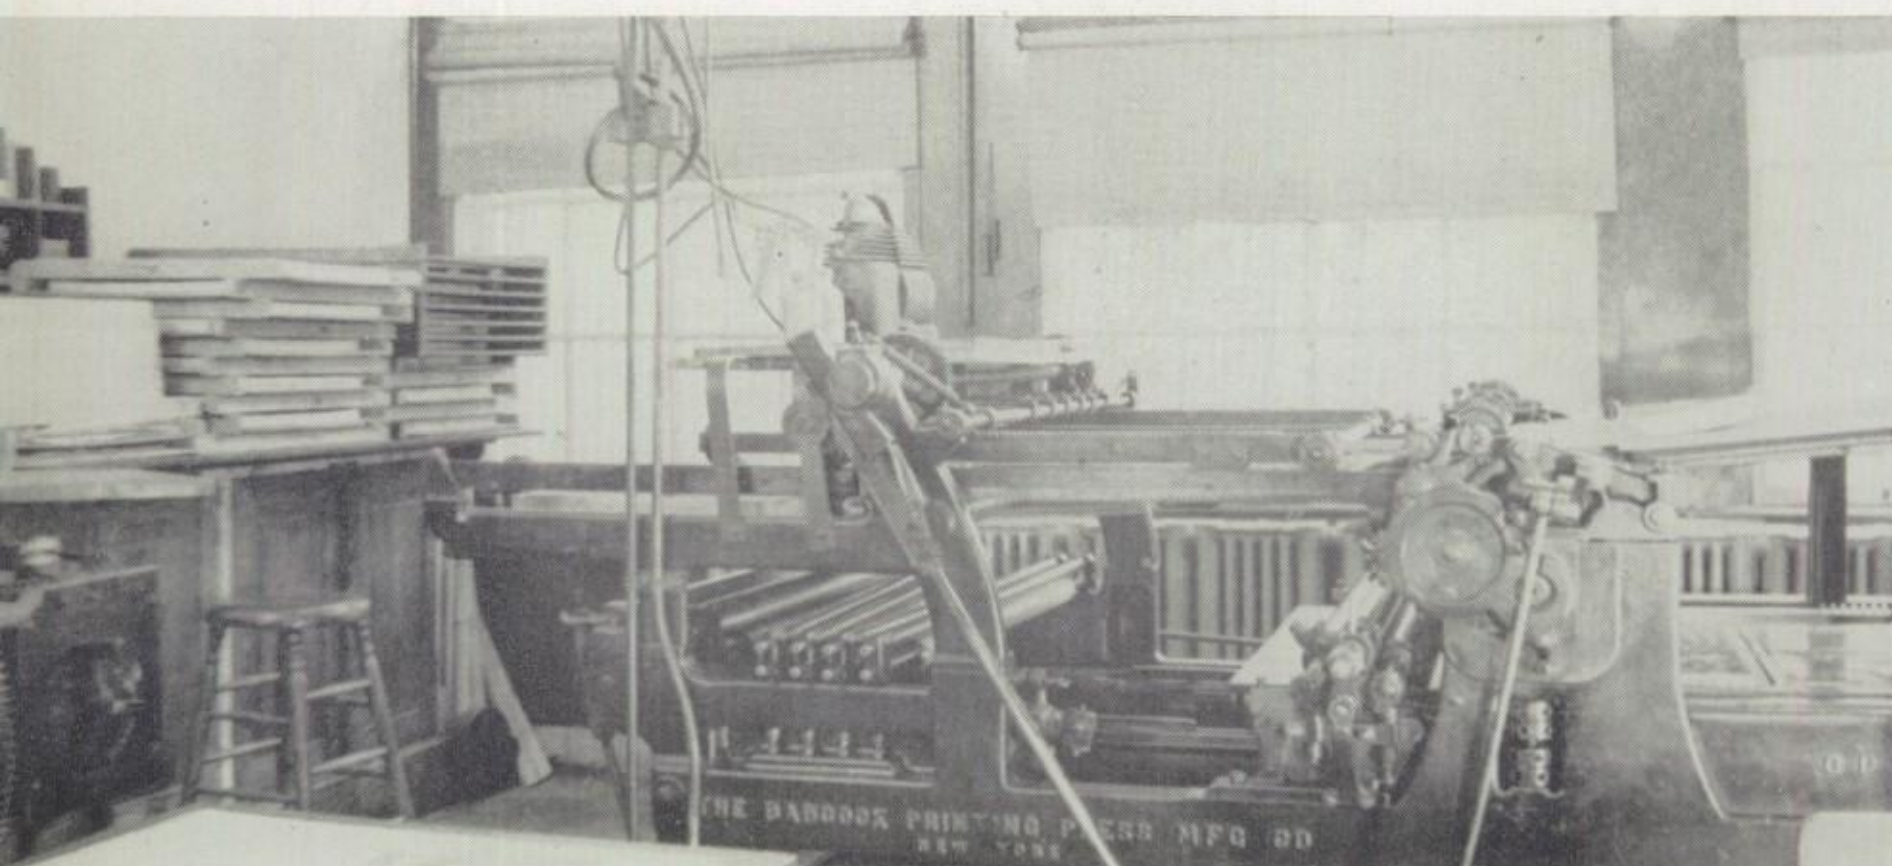

All Linotype and hand composition and make-up; cylinder press makeready and running; folding, stitching, trimming and casing is done by students and instructor in the Printing Department.

Every printing student did his part in producing this book. The work of Bill Bradford on Linotype composition and press feeding, and Jack Grishaw on page make-up was outstanding. Lester Puryear did fine work on press makeready. Other students also did exceptionally good work on various operations.

The stamping of student's names on the covers was done by the members of the Printers Club. Jack Grishaw was chosen as the recipient of the Printers Club award for 1943.

THE REYNOLDS HI PLAYERS

This year the Reynolds Hi Players, under Miss Ruth Troutman's supervision, have presented six one-act plays: two comedies, a war-time drama, a tragedy of mountain folk, an old-fashioned melodrama, and an eighteenth century fantasy.

Miss Troutman, director for the past two years, arranged for the first time to have two branches in this organization. Meeting during the last period on Wednesday afternoon, the larger section planned, cast, and rehearsed five plays: "Archie," "The Beau of Bath," "Eternal Life," "In a Hotel Lobby," and "The Pink Dress." Another division was formed in the second semester to accommodate those who were interested in dramatics and could not join the regular group because of difficulties in their schedules. These students met in the regular Thursday morning club period and gave the final production, the old-fashioned melodrama entitled "Fireman, Save My Child."

The two sets of officers elected by the members of the Wednesday afternoon and the Thursday morning drama-teers, respectively, are as follows: president, Marjorie Patten; vice-president, Gay Williams; secretary-treasurer, Charles Gibson; and president, Pat Kelly; vice-president, Charles Gibson; secretary-treasurer, Martha Jean Yokeley.

To be eligible for the troupe a student must meet two requirements: (1) he must be recommended by his English teacher. (2) he must show some dramatic ability before the faculty advisor.

All members of the troupe are qualified for induction into the Dramatic Honor Society which Mrs. Majorie Stephenson, Miss Troutman's predecessor, formed in 1939. To be honored with this distinction, a Reynolds Hi Player must have a "B" subject average or better, an "A" on deportment, qualities of leadership, an outstanding character, and a pleasant attitude. Also a candidate must have performed in a major role of a long production or in two major roles of one act plays given by the group, and he must have done a sufficient amount of backstage work to classify him as a well-rounded troupier.

One in the audience hardly realizes how much credit for a fine program should go to these backstage workers. The acting on stage is only half of the labor that goes into a presentation. There are usually more people backstage than in the cast. The list of the people who carry on the production jobs is as follows: a student director who suggests improvements to the cast; a publicity manager who "spreads the word around" that a play is coming; a committee with two or three members who hang posters in the halls; a stage manager who arranges the sets; a property manager who collects the items necessary for the plot; a costume manager who supervises the cast's clothes; a program chairman and his assistants who give out programs in the audience; and a make-up man who puts the "greasepaint" on the actors before the curtain rises.

THE MONOGRAM CLUB

The Monogram Club was organized for boys who have earned letters for athletic play or for being manager of a team.

The club has set as its standards a program to better school spirit, to increase ideals of high sportsmanship, to promote worthy school activities, to promote worthy athletic activities, and to provide a medium between the student body and all athletic teams.

Backwardness is indeed not a trait of the Monogram organization. The school dances have been one of its inventions along with numerous other activities. The annual Monogram initiation is a much heralded affair and looked forward to by students as one of the feature attractions of the year. Principal C. R. Joyner, co-operating with the officers of the club, sets a date each year for the paddle-and-red-bow-tie parade, which is usually held in the late days of the school year in order to give new members a chance to enter. The Monogram initiation is the symbolism of the importance gained by the monogram winners. No other group in school is honored with this privilege.

Faculty advisor for the boys is Mr. H. C. (Joby) Hawn who has been in charge of the organization for several years. Mr. Hawn, who is director of athletics at Reynolds and coach of the Reynolds baseball nine, has taken a great deal of interest in the activities of the honor class of letter-winners and has helped very much in keeping things going with the boys.

Co-operation with school heads and the student government has been one of the club's standards since organization. Its members, and the club as a whole, have attempted to raise standards of leadership, scholarship, character, and sportsmanship among the members of the athletic teams and among the student body. Seldom does a member appear before the Council for a major offense at school although, as usual with high school boys, minor offenses are always present. The club has attempted to co-operate fully with faculty members and the Athletic Council, which is led by the club's own sponsor, Coach Hawn.

The Monogram Club elected as their officers for the first semester the following: Dickie Smith, president; Dale Schultz, vice-president; John Welfare, secretary; and Tom Joyce, treasurer. Elected at the beginning of school these officers served until the middle of the school year, when they were replaced.

The next semester Tom Chambers served as president; Bill Ball was elected as vice-president; Norman Whiteheart served as secretary; and Marvin Crater became the most wealthy member of the organization by occupying the treasurer's office. It was never determined whether Albert Stuart should remain from last year as mascot, although it is imagined that he would have received no opposition. Thus, we name Albert Stuart as mascot.

This year for the first time the list of Black Demon athletics was cut down to five sports with the disbanding of the golf squad. The list of members, however, failed to decrease and goes on record as one of the largest in history.

HANES PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF 1943

Virginia Holcomb, Prophet

"There will be a reunion of the June Class—1943—at the John W. Hanes High School August 10, 1952." So ran the big news in a letter from C. H. Duncan, mayor of Daisy Station, which I recieved in far-away Texas.

I boarded a plane at Kelly Field for Winston-Salem. A cab was waiting, and who should be driving it but Carlyle Hayes. We had a wonderful chat about old times.

I was greeted very warmly at Hanes High by Frances and "Gerry" Higgins. After everyone recovered from the first excitement, Nelson Davis, our president, now a minister, suggested that we spend the evening hearing what everybody had been doing. Ed Aldridge is operating Aldridge's "Beauty Parlor," and has employed Inez Roberson, Doris Southern, and Etha Brantley. We found that Joe Joyce is operating a "Silver Polish Company."

Jimmy Ball, who owns a six-ring circus, has employed Marjorie Bodenhamer, Betrel Hudspeth, and Marilyn Lewis to do acrobatic stunts. Eddie Moore has recently returned from Atlantic City, where he judged a beauty contest, with the aid of Kyle Landingham and Kenneth Fansler. Frank Johnson operates a drug store. James Blakely is his soda jerker. Alvin Thomas took the place of Jimmy Scribner in his famous fun making "Johnson Family."

Sadye Hauser and Virginia Holcomb have reached the height of their ambition by playing with "Minnie Pearl", on the Grand Ole Opera. Bill Stewart and Albert Thomas own the "Blue Moon" dairy, and have employed Billy Long, Robert Clayton, and Richard Woodruff as helpers. The famous trio, Amele Holder, "Flip" Phillips, and Betty Ruth Baker sing with Roy Acuff and his "Smoky Mountain Boys." Peggy Carter is Dean of Women at W. C. U. N. C.

We found that E. W. Hoots and "Polly" Fishel are dancing partners for the T. B. sanitorium. Jack Gordon and Robert Gray are operating the "White Plains" polo field. Helen Brown and John Tillotson have been happily married for four years. It was interesting to find that Sarah Swain and Virginia Cardwell are photographers for "Life" Magazine.

Again we found that B. D. Archer is leading the American Legion Band. T. L. Meadows has recently been appointed head of the Junior Commandos. Doris West is editing the annual at Peabody Institute. Mrs. John Petree, the former Dottie Lou Flynt, lives in Atlanta. Carroll Poplin is sports editor for the New York Times. Elbert Cooke and Fred Duggins seem to be making a good job of playing together as Henry Aldrich and Homer Brown.

Another surprise came when we heard that James Maners was teaching American History, and Bill Inabinet majoring in Spanish. Who should step up next but Roland Burke, who is an advisor to Lovelorn. Margie Harris is singing in a night club in Kernersville. Paul Shelton has recently been employed by Harrell's studio.

Helen Hartness stated that she is thoroughly enjoying her work coaching the Mineral Springs Football team. We found that Bernard Cottee and Charles Morgan are partners in the "Moonlight Bakery", and have employed Homer Carter, Phillip Vernon, and Shelby Thomasson. What do you think Harold Smith is doing? He is running "Smith's Poultry Farm," and is doing very well. Hazel Lawrence has taken a group of Girl Scouts and is teaching them to fly airplanes. Quite a responsibility!

We were very happy to hear that we had another preacher in our group, Richard Carper, who is pastor of a large church in Tennessee. Bill Vanhoy is choir director at Richard's church. Opal Ruth Combs is dietician, and Hal Shields is coaching athletics at the hospital in Morganton. Helen Shermer has a kindergarten for children 16 and 17 years old. Next we found that Marian Sealey has opened a dress shop and has Doris Coleman, Frances Sigman, Margaret Rikard, and Nell Wagoner as models. Frank Walker is a pitcher for the "Yankees." Robert Scott has finally made the football team at State. Wayne Lowdermilk has recently been appointed as George Anthel's successor. Ed Linville is running a filling station near Lewisville.

Guelda Kirby is filling a most important position by cutting paper dolls for the orphanage. Talmadge Welch is now manager of a large baseball club of which Vernon Cartner, Bill Shelton, Tommy Mock, and Charles McIver are star players. Margaret Welborn is matron at the Children's Home. Kenneth Saunders and Warren Chilton are working hand in hand in athletics. Kenneth drives the bus for the team to travel, and Warren is referee.

Betty Smith stated that she now has a program on WSJS at 9:00 o'clock every night, reciting poetry from Tennyson as a special feature. "Polly" Thomas and Frances Sprinkle have a "Canary Farm." William Bennett and Gray Tatum own the "White Swan" swimming pool, where many of the Hanes High people hang out. "Kat" Archer instructs in Hollywood on the use of cosmetics. Last but not least, we found that Estlene White and Ina Smith are running "Pine Wood" College for girls, where Sudie Hanes is Home Ec. teacher, and Mary Morgan is orchestra

HANES HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1943

Doris Coleman, historian

In the fall of 1939 a small group of very green Freshmen came to this building.

The first thing that bothered us was those "swinging doors", and getting to class on time. We hadn't been used to anything like this.

Next came those people called "policemen", and boy! were we scared of them? Finally we passed over this year of rush, and, learned by the aid of teachers, classmates, and "cops", we began to like school life well.

As sophomores, we got into the full swing of extra-curricular activities such as: dramatics, baseball, basketball, football, tennis, and various clubs. In our class we had some athletic stars. This year passed by before we knew it, leaving great excitement.

When we became Juniors, we felt very important to our school. This year we supplied monitors, aldermen, club officers, and various outstanding people in other activities.

After the first semester, we looked forward to that gala event, the Junior-Senior. We entertained the Seniors at a formal dance. All of us had loads of fun. The rest of the year we entertained and were entertained. We looked forward to next year as Seniors—and graduation.

We have now come to our last year. The first semester was very interesting, with our boys winning the State B Championship for the third year, and the Juniors entertaining us with a delightful barn dance.

Many of our one-time freshman have now become outstanding students in the various departments of the school. Among them we find C. H. Duncan, mayor of the school; William Bennett, Judge of our Student Government; Doris West, Editor-in-chief of the Black and Gold; Sadye Hauser, Editor of the Pine Whispers.

Next come the members of the National Honor Society. These people are: Estlene White, Jimmy Ball, Sadye Hauser, William Bennett, Doris West, Earl Sandefur, Kenneth Fansler, Edward Aldridge, and Dottie Lou Flynt.

We elected Nelson Davis, President; Roland Burke, Vice-President; Carroll Poplin, Secretary; Frank Walker, Treasurer.

Doris West, Sadye Hauser, Carroll Poplin, and Dottie Lou Flynt are members of the Quill and Scroll.

Dottie Lou Flynt has not only won a high rating in the Quill and Scroll, but also first place in a Fire Prevention essay contest.

Jimmy Ball passed a State Test and was admitted to Duke University.

Again, we find Marian Sealey, the prettiest girl in our Senior Class, as chosen by some of our local people.

Now that this year, our last, is over, we are left with interesting memories. We ninety-five graduating Seniors wish to express to our school the hope that the history of our future may reflect honor on our Alma Mater.

REYNOLDS JANUARY CLASS HISTORY

By Doug Faircloth, Historian

In June, 1942, our history was read.
There's nothing more that need be said.
So we won't bother you with ancient history, but give you the data of the last leg of our journey.

In September, 1942, twenty-seven members of Reynolds High School formed themselves into a unit of self-defense to graduate in January, 1943.
Some have already joined the armed services and the rest, with the exception of four boys, will be seeing some kind of service by the last of March. Those who have already left are: Marvin Ellis, elected friendliest in our class, who has joined the para-troopers; and Sam
Pinkston, elected most athletic, is at the University of North Carolina preparing himself for service with the armed forces. Those slated to be drafted soon after graduation are: John Alspaugh,
Thurmond Barron, Elmo Bullard, James
Burton, Harold Craver, Clyde Culler,
Doug Faircloth, Wharton Graham,
Tommy Loman, Jimmy Mathis, T. L.
Martin, and Jimmy Roberts.

REYNOLDS JANUARY CLASS LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

Not necessarily because there is such a severe shortage of the following qualities and articles, but rather as a precaution against future rationing problems, do we, the 1943 January Graduating Class of Richard J. Reynolds High School hereby make, bequeath, and publish this our Last Will and Testament.

The following things we have found useful during our short(?) stay at Reynolds and hope that you may find some use for them also.

Article I

Section 1. Not following the regular procedure by leaving the best until the last, we would like at this time, to leave to Mr. Joyner, Miss Moore, and all the members of the faculty our appreciation and gratitude for their undying efforts to prepare us for what ever may come.

Section 2. To our coaches, faculty advisors of the clubs, and the office force we leave our sincere appreciation for their patience and personal interest in our activities.

Article II

Section 1. We, as a class, also leave our uncanny ability to graduate in not more than a year over the required time to the future athletes and present football team.

Section 2. We, the boys, would like to leave our sympathy with the coming Juniors in connection with the physical ed slave driver.

Section 3. We, the girls, leave our extra H2O2 bottles, long fingernails, carbon paper, ability to "super-$$$$ saturate" lipstick, etc. . . to any girl who is glamour-minded enough to want them.

Article III

Section 1. I, Francis Kiger, in parting, wish to leave all my grace and poise to "Little Bulldog" with the firm belief that she has use for it.

Section 2. To all the local sports (or socialites) I, Tommy Loman, leave my wardrobe of "zoot suits" with the knowledge that I will no longer have use for anything but uniforms.

Section 3. To Norman Stallings, we, Sam Pinkston and Jimmy Mathis, leave our ability to diagnose a football play. Not that he needs this quality of course.

Section 4. After our long careers of being lady killers, we, Thurmond Barron, Clyde Culler, and Ira Reece leave the following knowledge which we have gained. There are three kinds of women: The beautiful; the intellectual; and the majority.

Section 5. I, Janette Gaines leave my deepest sympathy to the next class president for all the hardships he or she must endure.

Section 6. To the Safrit brothers, Lee and Conrad, we, Jerome Buzzard and Wharton Graham leave two of our extra "packs".

Article IV

Section 1. I, Curtis Hammons, leave my appreciation for the many compliments to an unknown admirer (don't blush, Margaret).

Section 2. To Betsy Dalton, we, Hurley King, T. L. Martin, Elmo Bullard, and Harold Craver will our music abilities, believing that with her love of music and our talents, she will become one of the greatest musicians.

Section 3. And I, the Testator, leave all my worthless but coveted possessions to any one who has use for them, because I realize that after this document is made public I will need to write a genuine Last Will and Testament.

Signed, John Alspaugh, Testator.

REYNOLDS JUNE CLASS LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of Richard J. Reynolds High School, being of good health and sound mind, do hereby make, bequeath, and publish this, our last Will and Testament, in order to distribute, evenly and otherwise, our most cherished possessions to those who are slaving because of them.

Article I

Section I. To the Principal and Faculty, we bequeath our sincerest "Thanks" for the personal interest and patience you have shown during all the years when we were struggling.

Section II. We leave with all our favorite teachers the knowledge that we may be gone but they will not be forgotten.

Section III. To the up-and-coming 11 A's and future Senior class we will our ability to learn things the hard way.

Article II

Section I. John Richardson wills his overwhelming height to Bobby Lyons.

Section II. Louella Hoots wills her overwhelming "forgetfulness" to Pat Gaines.

Section III. Nancy Webber, for the sake of the younger boys, bequeaths her "way with the men" to little sister Joanna.

Section IV: For the advancement of music, Eunice Hundley and Catherine Edwards leave the beauty of their voices to Clara Jean Cooke and Betty Lou Ball.

Section V: Eloise Dent, Margie Muse, Betsy Dalton, and Daphne Bazemore leave behind their exquisite beauty to Nell Chance, Deryl Dent, Betty Myers, and Sally Ann Borthwick.

Section VI: The football boys bequeath their ability on the field to whoever deems himself worthy of it.

Section VII: Cecilia Goodson and Ann Cobb leave their outstanding sports ability to Jody Brimhall and Peggy Clemmer.

Section VIII: Paige Neal, Kay Goldberg, and Jean Ferrell leave their fatal love for chomping gum to Grace Stevens and Jean Adams.

Section IX: The rare but well known art of flirting, now belonging to Mimi Harrison and Betty Dean Shugart, is left to Molly Darr and Ruth Rawls—long live the practice!

Section X: Bill Crews leaves his radiant personality to Madison Spach.

Section XI: Tom Carpenter hands down to Tom Joyce his handsome appearance and No. 1 rating with "all" the girls.

Section XII: Johnny Welfare and Dale Schultz hand down to Ralph Stockton and Sophia Bowen their inseparable friendship.

Section XIII: And because there is a definite need in every school for at least one intellectual student, Mark Boesser bequeaths his unmistakable genius to Betty McCall.

In Witness Whereof, we, the June class of 1943, do set to this, our Last Will and Testament, our seal, this eighth day of June, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and forty-three.

REYNOLDS JUNE CLASS HISTORY

By Mark Alan Boesser, Historian

We have always known that there was something different about us, this June Class of 1943. We've seemed to sense that ours would be a different history from any that has gone before. From the very first we knew there was something in the air—we could feel it. Call it premonition or hunch, or what you will, but the history that follows will bear us out—read it and see.

We came to this fine Hall of Learning, the R. J. Reynolds High School, in January, 1939, but were we shy and timid as freshmen usually are? No! We were cock-sure; we knew just what we wanted to study and what we were going to do with the knowledge we gained. So, under the guidance of Miss Dobson and Mrs. McDermott, we went to work and elected Ann Cobb and Willis Coggins as our respective presidents, and Jean Walker as our Council representative. Undaunted, with heads held high, we faced the buffets of the confusing staircases and of the upper classmen. We had chosen our leaders well, but someone else was doing some picking too. A paper-hanger, made fuehrer of Germany, picked a few buddies that year, one Mussolini and another Hirohito, for playmates. They signed false papers at Munich, and after the paper-hanger, who called himself Hitler, had torn up the papers, he marched through Poland and Austria.

But did that worry us? Why, no indeed! We went right on studying through our sophomore year, and there were several outstanding students in our classes too. There were Mary Louise Smith and Mickey Black, whom we elected to be our leading officers, and William McCall, who ably represented us on the Student Council. But events of doubt began to obscure the plans we made for our future. Yes, we had isolationists in Congress who said "It cannot happen here" and we felt pretty safe. We still knew exactly what we were doing. Other nations were at war, but not ours. Then Hitler took all of Europe he wanted until he met his match in the people of one island who refused to be beaten. He and Mussolini, in destroying Greece, ruined one of the proudest countries of the world. Meanwhile, the other trio was still trying to tear China to pieces. But we were the coming generation's best, although doubts as to the certainty of our isolation began to creep into the cracks of our education's armor.

So it was with some trepidation that we faced our junior year of 1941. We were beginning to feel that we didn't quite know it "all" and it was with sober consideration that we elected Ed Brenegar and Marvin Ferrell as our class presidents, and Bunny Sprunt and Jean Parker as our Council representatives. We participated more fully in the school activities and began to make names for ourselves in various fields of achievement. Through the whole-hearted cooperation of our sponsors, Miss Howell and Miss Troutman, our Junior-Senior dances proved successful. As a crowning event, thirteen of our number were inducted into the National Honor Society. We weren't quite as hard on the freshmen that year, and although we went somewhat for the zoot suit and the jitterbug step and thoroughly enjoyed Mr. Brausa's swing band, we realized that some of the graduates were going for other things. Some had joined the Canadian Royal Air Force and others were joining the armed forces of our nation with a certain grim determination. The clouds grew blacker, and on December 7th of that year the storm broke. "Pearl Harbor", a name never to be forgotten! You know what it meant—WAR.

And there we were. We had reached our senior year and by that time we felt that we knew absolutely nothing about what was ahead. Our cock-sureness was gone. There was confusion in our minds instead of a definite knowledge as to our education and how we were to use it. But the student body selected Nelson Hendrix the president of our school and Bill Plonk as Speaker of the House of Representatives. Under the sponsorship of Miss Whitley, our class officers were Bill Crews, president; John Richardson, vice president; Jean Joyner, secretary; and Ed Brenegar, treasurer, and we were further represented on the Council by Tommy Carpenter as vice president, Bunny Sprunt as secretary, Ruth Anderson, Mary Louise Smith, and Mark Boesser. But then to add to our bewilderment, the draft age limit was lowered to eighteen, and Nelson Hendrix and Wade Moser, the president of the Honor Society, went to college to hasten their education. However, their positions were capably filled by Tommy Carpenter and Bunny Sprunt respectively. And there were the famous Monogram dances and extra curricular activities to add to our pleasant memories. Our teams continued to merit our pride in spite of the increasing difficulties of transportation due to the war, and we made the most of this, our last year at Reynolds. In the meantime our armed forces made some headway, too, and all of our allies played a big part in fighting to a standstill the three now known as the Axis. But now what of us—the little June Class of '43?

Well—this of us! We thought we knew it all when we came here, but now we realize how little we did know then, and we have begun to understand that there are big things at stake in this world today and each one of us has a part to play in it—and we will play that part, be it as a WAVE, a WAAC, or a Marine, Sailor, Chaplain, or in whatever field of service we may find ourselves, or if not in the armed forces—then in ardent preparation for our part in the years that are to come—for our God and our Country have need of us in preserving this world for peace and happiness.

So here is a toast to thee,
June Class of Forty Three;
May each one who shares your name
Add to our high school's fame.
May knowledge gathered here
Shine as a beacon clear
Down the years that are to come,
Leading each student home
To his life's work—sure that he
Or she, as the case may be,
Is doing the best in each place
For the welfare of our race.
So shall each be proud to be
Of the June Class — Forty Three.

Puck: By Jove, you're right! My oversight! They're supposed to be made every decade.

Titania: And the last was made, now let me see—back in the year '43!

Puck: Quite true, cousin, now start your buzzin'.

Titania: What's the first group to be checked?

Puck: Oh, let's take a try at this '43 class from Reynolds High.

Titania: 'Twas nice of the Fates to lend us their book—Look! Nelson Hendrix is director of the play "Road to Valuburlinovka" co-starring Claude Joyner and Betty Jane Bagby.

Puck: Just his speed!

Titania: But what's this? That social butterfly, Cecilia Goodson, has just announced her engagement to a member of the six hundred and fiftieth generation of Methuselah.

Puck: Here's a good one, Tany, old girl. Pete "Einstein" Bambolis, known for his theories on psycopathival disturbances, has written a book called "How I Ran A Kindergarden in Kernersville."

The Safrit and Clayburn Industries under the expert management of Debbie Darr have just manufactured a square pea quaranteed to stay on all knives.

Titania: Hey, give me the book. I want a look. The Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street features Betsy Dalton, soloist, and Willis Coggin's new arrangement of "Lamp's Trumpet Serenade."

Tommy Carpenter was scheduled to wrestle "The Angel" last week at Madison Square Garden, now under the supervision of Bill Crews.

Puck: Quit the quackin', chum!

Tell me the outcome.

Titania: "The Angel" is champion again. But here's another football player. John Welfare is running a midwinter aquadade at Reynolds Park with those bathing beauties: Sarah Wood, Bunny Sprunt, Eloise Dent, and Jane McNair, who, we hear, keep their locks alluring with the Barber twins' super-electrified hair curler endorsed by Bill Ayers.

Puck: (jerking book away) Just outside of Reno, Creighton Soyars is operating an eating place for tourists with Deena Trent, Jean West, Betty Sink, Louella Hoots, and Margaret Macklin as curb service hops.

I see where Edwin Brenegar is rising in the world as cricket coach at Cambridge, England. Bill Donahoo is his assistant. Pippy, eh?

Speaking of business men, Mark Boesser and Manly Brunt have bought the C. A. Sappe Co. for the production of their amazing "Take It Or Leave It" Hair Tonic. Dick Smith is mixer, and Marvin Ferrell is bottler. Arthur Pappas is selling the products.

Titania: Ah, Puck, two of our favorites, Daphne Bazemore and Margie Muse, have been chosen Miss B-19 and Queen of Utopia, respectively. The judges were Dale Schultz and Dave Livengood.

Puck: No wonder! Who's that red-letter name?

Titania: Oh, Nancy Webber. She's married to Professor O. I. Stretch, that famous inventor of synthetic rubber made of peanuts, water and corn.

We find Carl Holbrook and Livingston Johnson running a fruit stand on the main floor of the Hotel Astor where policemen "Deadbeat" Plonk and "Flatfoot" Crater make their rounds. Bernard Johnson and Charles Thrift are house detectives.

Puck: It looks as though many of the '43 class have taken over Cowder Creek, Wyo., chosen as the ideal town in the country. It was laid out by Robert Myers, architect. Bob Watson is president of the L. W. Club or Lonely Wolves. Marjorie and Dot Yarborough are assisting the town's mortician, Odell King, as grave diggers. Jean and Jane Joyner still sell pop corn and peanuts on the "Five by Five" Street Car Line operated by Rosalyn Nicolas and managed by Ruth Anderson and Betsy Forrest. Sheriff "Eagle Eye" Cobb with deputies Brimhall and Haltiwanger and Mayor Emmie Lou James are ruining the town with their law forbidding "52 pick-up" among old bachelors over seventy-seven.

Titania: You left out the night club, Eight Ball, opened by Charles Blackburn and Buddy Sohmer with Mary Louise Smith as hostess and Mack Hagaman's band. The Oden twins are waiters and Terry Minnis is cashier and bouncer. "Atlas II" Jack Porter, fresh from the circus, is providing entertainment.

Puck: Come on, Titania, we've done our job, let's go find the rest of the mob. We've done enough checking for today. Now's our time to eat and play.

GRAY HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1943

Evelyn Brock

At last we have come to the threshold of life, and we must enter the door alone and face facts without the aid of teachers or fellow-students. As we make plans for the future, our minds slowly visualize the past.

It was in September, 1939, that we, as freshmen, timidly entered into the flow of activities at South High School. During those first few weeks we were so homesick for our old grammar schools that many of us would have gladly gone back. However, as we became accustomed to the "ways" of the school and got acquainted with more of the students, we felt perfectly at home.

The "highlight" of our freshman year was the changing of the name of the school from South High to James A. Gray High School.

Entering the school next year as sophomores, we really felt quite "grown." We were divided into various homerooms; however, some of the members of our class made places for themselves in the student organization.

Since our principal, Mr. K. G. Phillips, was made superintendent of the Gastonia City Schools, we started our junior year under the capable direction of our new principal, Mr. J. A. Woodward. This year we were an organized class with Jack McGee, Paul Snider, Nina Braddock, and Betty Craver as our officers. Paul Snider and Douglas Livengood each served a semester as vice-president of the school, and Betty Miller was secretary. Jack McGee won the Junior Chamber of Commerce Oratorical Contest. Percy Wall won the honor of being fifth best debater in North Carolina. Edna Lee Stout, Paul Snider, Forest Bates, Vertie Mae Spry, Alice Mae Cude, Jack McGee, and John Gatewood were inducted into the National Honor Society, and Paul Snider was elected state president of the society. Meanwhile, other members of our class continued to hold offices of importance.

Then we came to the last mile, the mile which we are now completing. We are grateful for the help which we have received from our sponsors, Miss Nancy Raper; Miss Clara Tiller; Mrs. Virginia Sherrill; and Miss Fannie Mecum, head sponsor. We elected Ernest Ray Williams, Elinor Crews, Alice Mae Cude, and Vertie Mae Spry to lead us. Honor has come to many of our number. Two more of our members, Evelyn Brock and Bettie Willard, were inducted into the National Honor Society. Stanley Pierce, Ray Mathis, and Sherwood Pinkston were chosen for the all-city football team. Herbert Baker has just completed his second successive term as president of the school. Valia Hutchins served as secretary of the school the first semester; and Bettie Willard, the second. Paul Snider was again elected as school vice-president. The Junior Chamber of Commerce Oratorical Contest and the Americanism Essay Contest were also won by him. Elinor Crews was chosen for our D. A. R. representative.

Even though we have been a busy class, we remember what Gray has meant to us, and our hearts shall always turn to praise our dear Alma Mater. We shall always remember the things she has taught us and the things for which she stands.

GRAY LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1943

Vertie Mae Spry

We, the Senior class of James A. Gray High School, City of Winston-Salem, County of Forsyth, and State of North Carolina, being of sound mind and memory (we hope) and considering the uncertainty of this frail and transitory life, do therefore make, ordain, and declare this to be positively our Last Will and Testament.

After all our lawful, or unlawful, debts are paid and all of our history outlines are turned in, we leave,

First: To Mr. Woodward, Miss Spainhour, our sponsors, and the entire faculty, our deepest appreciation for the way they have stood by us in our ups and downs (mostly downs). We hope that the next class will not cause quite as many headaches, gray hairs, and sleepless nights,

Second: We leave our prized seats in assembly to the present juniors with the hope that they find a parking place outside for their gum before making their dignified entry.

Third: Rachel Wagoner leaves her much-used comb to Annie Mae Potts, because hers is sure to be worn into nothing in the near future.

Fourth: Ray Mathis leaves his famous football to Douglas Calloway with the sincere trust that he will continue to bestow upon it the familiar honors and glory.

Fifth: The two Dorothy Marshalls leave the confusion of identical names to the Betty Smiths with best wishes.

Sixth: Edna Lee Stout gives over all of her home work to R. L. Pardue.

Seventh: Marie Dwiggins, Helen Klutz, and Vertice Clodfelter hand over their quiet ways to Mary Jane Johnson, Donavee Collier, and Frances Jean Scott.

Eighth: Helen Gray and Helen

Fishel leave their chatter about nothing in particular to future soap-box orators.

Ninth: Claude (Arthur) Crocker leaves his popularity and athletic ability to Robert Sheek.

Tenth: Eddie Wagner, having resolved actually to think a little more of the serious side of life, leaves his boisterous laugh to Sam Vaughn, that ever solemn lower-classman.

Eleventh: Paul Snider, Ernest Ray Williams, and Herbert Baker leave their leadership to anybody who has the courage to try it.

Twelfth: Douglas Livengood leaves his understanding ways and good sportsmanship to "Fats" Atkinson.

GRAY PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF 1943

Nina Braddock

Edna Lee Stout and I began to wonder what the future holds in store for us and the other Gray High Graduates of '43. At that instant a fortune teller's sign caught our eyes, and we knew that this was our solution. As the fortune teller gazed into her crystal, we mysteriously left the present and went into the future, the year 1953.

There we saw in the business world a secretary in almost every office. Alice Mae Cude was employed in the Kelly Photography Company as secretary, while Edna Lee Stout was serving in the same capacity to a prominent lawyer, Forest Bates. Vertie Mae Spry, Rachel Wagoner, Evelyn Brock, Charles Jarvis, Opal Dye, Charlotte Ferguson, Dorothy L. Marshall, Dorothy Tesh, and Ruby Boger had also made outstanding names for themselves as stenographers.

At Fussell and Williams' Exclusive Ladies Ready To Wear Shoppe appeared Stella Mae Moore, modeling an evening gown, and among the most popular of the Jean Powers group we found Betty Miller, Betty Craver, Margaret Prestwood, Doris Lee, Dorothy Atkinson, Ruby Byrd, Naomi Wagoner, and Doris Dillon.

Some of our boys then appeared: Percy Wall, Professor of law at Wake Forest; Lucas Conrad, foremost airplane designer; and Paul Flowers, publisher of the Winston-Salem "Times." Members of his staff were Jim Harris, editor of "Advice to the Love-Lorn"; Bill Holt, sports' editor; Robert Fletcher, Winfred Robertson, and Kelly Hoots, news correspondents.

Linville Lawrence was Warden for the State Pen; Ernest Ray Williams, Merry Go-Round Operator for the famous Elinor Crews Carnival; Paul Snider, Pop-Corn Manager at the Hollywood; and Claude Crocker, chief Bar Tender at Eddie Wagner's Peanut Bar Candy Store, passed one after the other.

Next the Crystal took us back to Gray High, where we found among the new teachers, Gatewood, Klutz, J. Brooks, Carter, Oakley, E. Kimball, and Helms.

We wandered to distant lands to find Rosena Burton, Nelphia Foster, Grace Leonard, and Dorothy Marshall as missionaries.

A hospital appeared and as the interior unfolded, we beheld Charles Johnson seated at the superintendent's desk, checking the nurses' register, on which we saw names of nurses Dwiggins, Sapp, Gray, Vogler, Essex, Turner, and Reavis.

Again the scene changed: a sign which read, "Justice of the Peace, Sherwood Pinkston" slowly appeared. Here we found breathing their last breath of freedom Homer Freeze, Haskell Ferguson, James Worrell, Charles Bunn, Paul Gilley, Jack Baynes, Loyd Stinson, and Hylton Crews. Who the unlucky brides were could not be foreseen.

The crystal turned from matrimony to Hollywood; there we saw Womble, Norman, and Bagwell as noted Hollywood producers. Faye Wilson, Marie Poindexter, and Jacquelyn Price were being signed by Aubrey Coldfelter, a Hollywood talent scout of the NGN studios. Beecher Casey had won, along with Annie Lee Hair, the Academy Award. Kathryn Green, in Hollywood competing for the title of "Miss America" was having her hair waved at the Gordon Beauty Shop, where Vertice Clodfelter, Hazel Ervin, and Doris Carroll were beauticians.

Into our view appeared the exclusive Baker School. The president, Herbert, was seen in his office consoling a homesick girl. Juanita Bradford filled the principal's chair; Norma Brooks was music teacher; Lida Dunnagan and Valia Hutchins, athletic directors and Betty Willard, chemistry teacher.

We were amazed to see that S. A. Kress had changed to Adams and Kreeger, Inc. Shouse and Bledsoe were serving on the board of directors.

Beautiful music filled the air. We were delighted to hear the voices of Stanford and H. Baker in the "Grand Old Op'ry". Linville, Jones, and Hauser had prominent places in a swing orchestra; while Mann, Long, and Self were playing in Noell's own orchestra.

As the crystal turned, we learned that the Masten-McGee Circus had opened, featuring Jack Sink as the most hilarious clown in existence; Harry Hemrick, the main feature in the monkey show; Zebbedee Crews, lion trainer; and Teresa Piatt, snake charmer.

In the sport world we saw Gilda Gray competing in the international tennis tournament; Swink and Potter, basketball coaches at Salem College; Mathis, football coach at Notre Dame; and Pierce, coach for Georgia.

Strains of our National Anthem were heard as army officers R. Teague, Allgood, Huffman, Bauguss, and Russell marched along. The music suddenly changed to "Anchors Aweigh" and there in their navy uniforms were Voss, Sprinkle, Livengood, Holland, Sechrest, Deviney, and G. Teague. "Leather-necks" Eagleson, Evans, Wooten, Bill Adams, C. McGee; and Devine passed by to the tune of the "Marine Hymn." These graduates continued to serve after the war.

The word "matrimony" again appeared; and written beneath it were the names Drum, McMillan, Anderson, Johnson, Holton, Mills, M. Wilson, Leazer, Burchette, Kiser, and Stoker. We found Martin, Campbell, Wooten, Sparks, and Joyner at a meeting of local legislators.

As the crystal turned, great drops of perspiration rolled off as if someone were working hard. It revealed Helen Fishel and Marilyn Sells giving reducing lessons.

The crystal cleared; we left the future to re-enter the present and to wonder whether all this we saw would really come to pass.

GRAY CLASS POEM

Paul Snider

Out upon life's golden pathway,
Where the future now is calling,
Opens up a new horizon,
Bright and shining, yet appalling.

Life, which only is beginning,
Dost thou future treasures bring us?
Shall we find just sweet contentment?
No, our fate will ne'er be thus!

Bitter strife and many hardships
We shall meet upon life's highway;
Courage, patience, truth, and valor
Shall meet their test in home and byway.

Gray has for our tasks prepared us,
Day by day while playing, working;
Now we face thee, Life and Future,
Unafraid of shadows lurking.

WANTED

If you can cook in vast amounts when Reynolds pupils all about you
Are starving fast and blaming it on you;
If you can make toast without burning it to a crisp through and through,
But make allowance for good browning too;
If you can boil water to exactly the proper degree
Or make a cake with tempting icing;
Or slice bread so that every two pieces in size will agree
And often have no knife for slicing;
If you can string a string bean and still leave most of the bean,
Or bake fine biscuits too soft to use as bricks;
If you can cook a mess and still keep the entire kitchen clean,
And if you know all kinds of hash-making tricks;
If you can concoct a nice, delicious Mullican Stew
From all kinds of unappetizing left-over vegetables and goo;
Miss Rosa Tinder believes that as a maid you might do,
So apply for a position in the cafeteria—PDQ.

While plans for her vacation danced in her head;
And Betty Jean Voss was burning her thinking caps
To settle her brain for several long summer naps,—
When out in the hall there arose such a clatter,
Paula Alspaugh ran to see what was the matter.
Away to the landing she flew like a swift flash,
Unlocking the door Miss Voss was trying to crash.
The look on her face was sufficient to show
How much work must be done before they could go;
When what to their wondering eyes should appear
But Mr. Joyner, suffering from gas rationing and driving a steer.
With a commanding tongue he bellowed orders so quick
His assistants feared him as the sailors,
Moby Dick.
For all this excess labor no one was to blame,
And he hung up his hat, dropped in his chair, and called them by name:
"Now Doris! Now, Bernice! Now, Paula and Betty Jean!
Recheck all the files here, and make this office clean!
On the accounts of the stamp sales and the supply room budget
Add and read till your lists all coincide diget for diget."
As the minutes before the great task at hand like a wild hurricane fly,
When bountiful bebies of mistakes arise,
the sun approached its high,
So their three lunch boxes filled with sandwiches were scampered through And 'twas a fine meal with cookies and candy—and coffee too!
Then each spoke not a word, but went straight to work
And filed all the records; then turning with a jerk,
They sprang to the bus-stop as Mr.
Joyner fled to his fillie.
Off they went with facial expressions
all positively silly,
But they were heard to exclaim, ere they rode out of sight,
"Eureka! Summer vacation! Our fondest delight!"

WHAT OF Tomorrow?

Drenched in blood and scorched with the flames of blazing guns, the world must look utterly hopeless to the thousands of young Americans finishing high school and looking into the future. It calls for high courage to face it. But, after all, that is what has made the America of the past and will build the America of the future—the high courage and faith of its youth.

The high courage and faith of young Americans, dying on a hundred far-flung battle fronts, that is your assurance of the future. Your assurance that America will always be a land where freedom lives, a land where you will be free to work and play, a land of opportunities greater than man has ever known before.

So, be of good courage—your future, with the future of America, is being paid for right this minute in young American blood. A future that will be your responsibility to keep bright and untarnished. You dare not fail it or break faith with it.
